By RON SOBELSON

In the Prussian city of Paderhorn, in the year 1803, the young drug clerk at Cramer's Pharmacy looks up at the clock and shakes the drowsiness from his head. He stands up and stretches, numb after hours alone in the same bent position. As he takes his coat from a nail on the wall, he looks from the small laboratory at the back of the store and out into the night. Although he has only three hours sleep left, he whistles a tune from Haydn as he walks the quiet streets home.

He is Friedrich Wilhelm Adam Serturner, aged 20, and he has isolated one of the greatest of all drugs — Morphine, named after Morpheus, god of sleep.

For young Friedrich, it was an ending and a beginning, as all discoveries are. What were its properties? Was it definitely a narcotic? What was its proper dose? It would take work — fourteen years of it — but, "To truth there is no end."

TRUST Townley Shoes TO KNOW AND CARE

After a barefoot summer, they'll hate wearing shoes. We don't blame them. But the next best thing to going barefoot is Jumping Jacks, the shoes with barefoot freedom. They're unlined and made of prime leathers for wear without weight. They're lighter, softer, more flexible. More like going barefoot. So this Fall bring your child into our store. Then send him back to school in Jumping Jacks. He'll hardly notice summer's over.

Industrial Arts Program Enrollment Doubles at CHS

Dr. Charles Post, principal, reported that enrollment in the new industrial arts major at Cranford High School is almost twice as large as last year.

He said there are 36 boys enrolled in the cooperative work-study program, which is now beginning its third year. Dr. Post said Frank Pannofli will teach the theoretical classroom work, and Josef Goodman, head of the industrial arts department, will be in charge of the laboratory.

The high school also will offer two "pilot" projects of the work-study type: home arts and business education. The school system has received state aid of $7,666 for these projects.

Dr. Post said the industrial arts major will be taught by the two teachers as a team. He added that the "team" will be extended to include a mathematics teacher who will correlate industrial math with this subject, and a guidance counselor who will work on personal development and job placement and supervision.

Many of the boys in the industrial arts program will be given the opportunity for work experience under the cooperative supervision of the teacher, guidance counselor and employer. They will be placed for a period of 12 weeks in factories, service stations, auto-body repair shops and retail outlets.

The emphasis this year will be on the development of worthwhile employability characteristics and on personal development and human relations, Dr. Post reported.

A "team teaching" approach will be continued for the power mechanics course, Dr. Post said. The "team" will consist of William Massa, industrial arts instructor, and Courtland Daley, science instructor. Mr. Daley will present the theory of power mechanics, and Mr. Massa will present the practical laboratory experiences.

"The team teaching" in this course last year brought about good results — a strengthening of the content, an opportunity to permit two teachers to teach in their particular areas of greater strength, and a laboratory experience so important to the full meaning of the course," Dr. Post said.

A business office practice program offered for the first time last year will be available again this year, Dr. Post said. He said the program accommodates those pupils who could not qualify for clerical or secretarial office practice, but who need a terminal course in which the skill requirement is not so high.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marshall and sons, Thomas and Bruce, formerly of Chappaqua, N. Y., will take up residence this weekend at 15 Hillside Pl. Mrs. Marshall is the former Mary Sue Arth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glen Arth of 104 Oak Lane.

Two Join YES Board

Burton Mandell and Robert Belle were welcomed as new members when the board of directors of the Youth Employment Service held its August meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Warrington, president. Mr. Mandell is assistant principal at Hillside Avenue Junior School and Mr. Belle teaches science at Orange Avenue Junior School.

The Cranford Chamber of Commerce was reported to be "delighted" with the performance of the YES youngsters who delivered 9,074 directories to householders and business places last month. The folders contained a map of Cranford and pertinent information about the township. Twenty-six boys, 14 and 15 years old, were employed in the project.

YES has filled a total of 1,824 job orders since it started, according to Mrs. Warren Schriest, chairman of volunteers and office procedure.

With the beginning of school next week, the YES office in Sherman School will return to its winter schedule, 2:30 until 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday. The office will be closed for the religious holidays on September 15 and 16.

Nuns Among Seven Injured In Parkway Crash

Seven persons, including two nuns, were injured when their car crashed into a dirt dividing barrier on the Garden State Parkway in Cranford on Monday.

Reported in fair condition at Memorial General Hospital in Union were Sisters Grace Ferrazano and Beatrice Ferrazano, both teachers at Villa Walsh in Morris town; their sister, Mrs. Celeste Miele, 40, of Paterson, and her four children, Sally, 7; Eileen, 11; Mari-

Beth, 10, and Mary Grace, 8 years old. According to State Police, the station wagon in which they were riding, operated by Sister Grace, swerved to avoid striking another car, mounted the barrier and then skidded down an embankment into a ditch.

The family was on the way to the beach in Long Branch at the time.

Adult School Courses Free To Senior Citizens

All courses available at the fall semester of the Cranford Adult School will be open to all Cranford senior citizens at no cost, it was reported today by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president-director.

Dr. Iversen said this will be the third consecutive year that all offerings of the Adult School have been made available free to all Cranford residents 65 years old and above.

The fall semester will open October 4 at Cranford High School and will continue for 10 consecutive Tuesday evenings through December 6. Registration will be conducted on September 29 and 30 and October 3 at Cranford High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Partelow and their daughter, Miss Marion Partelow, of 48 Morse St. have returned after spending a month in Europe, where they visited Denmark, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Germany, Switzerland and France. In Goteborg, Sweden, they visited Mrs. Partelow's cousins.

Lorraine Cinaglia of 8 Oraton Dr. and Judi Trezza of 1 Oraton Dr. were weekend guests of Barbara Cuozzo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cuozzo of 50 Crane Pkwy., at their summer home on Green Island.

N. J. Schools Set to Enroll 1.3 Million

About 1,330,000 boys and girls will wend their way back to New Jersey public schools this September.

The enrollment from kindergarten to grade 12 is the largest in the history of the state. It exceeds last year's attendance by about 39,000. In 1956, there were 881,000 pupils enrolled in grades K-12. This year's 1.33 million is one and a half times the '56 figure.

More students naturally require more teachers and more classrooms.

Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Research of the State Department of Education indicate there will be 62,000 teachers on the other side of the desk. This is 25,600 more than in 1956.

About 12,000 of the teachers who were in the state's public school classrooms last year are not returning in September. About a third of them will be teaching elsewhere. About 30 percent of them will be assuming full-time home duties (some temporarily) and the remainder will have left the teaching field completely.

About 14,000 teachers will be new to their New Jersey public school this September. These educators will replace the 12,000 and provide the additional 2,000 teachers needed for the increased enrollment.

About 40 percent of the 14,000 teachers will come from other teaching positions — in and out of New Jersey. About 6,300 of the 14,000 will have been recruited from colleges and universities. The remainder will be returning from home responsibilities or will be leaving non-teaching positions for the classroom.

It is expected that 2,500 new classrooms will offer attractive facilities to students this fall. A total of 50,000 classrooms — 20,000 more than 10 years ago — will be ready for the record enrollment.

Siegfried Issues

"Certainly we sympathize with residents of the area in which the disagreeable odor existed. Its existence was a result of efforts to convert what state officials had termed a model land fill area into an attractive Industrial Park, so that there is no question that Cranford intends attractive tree plantings on the property of the park adjacent to residential areas. This can not be accomplished, however, until the buildings are in and landscaping and road construction is complete.

The township also has contracted for working in the park constructing roads and curbs. When we realized the dry weather was causing a large amount of dust from this construction, we undertook a daily road watering program to keep the dust down. Our swimmobile was pressed into service as a temporary water wagon.

The public works department has sent our street sweeper to clean streets in Linden where trucks and other construction equipment had tracked quantities of dirt.

"It is certainly my hope," Commissioner Siegfried declared, "that the Industrial Park will be completed as soon as possible with the resultant end to all temporary objectionable conditions which are inherent in large construction projects."

"I must comment, however, that in my 10 years residency in Cranford every prevailing east wind has brought us the smelly emissions of the chemical and industrial factories which benefit the City of Linden. Unfortunately, these conditions can only be classified as permanent."

The State Health Department previously had required a work stoppage in the area when the temperature exceeded 70 degrees, spraying of the unearthed garbage and dust-raised unpaved roads within the Industrial Park, and the daily spreading of four inches of clean fill over exposed garbage.

Linden officials charged that the excavator had largely ignored this order. The contractor declared he saw or heard nothing of the order until the restraining order was issued Monday.

Officials of Linden also said that Cranford officials assured them two years ago that excavating would be limited from May 15 to October in this area and that a regular system of backfilling would be used to confine odors.

One of the Linden engineers said that "unfortunately it was a verbal agreement and Cranford officials can't quite recall it." The Linden official asserted that Cranford could have controlled the problem by placing excavating restrictions in the terms of land sale or simply by refusing to issue building permits for the summer months.

Mrs. Glen Arth of 104 Oak Lane will arrive home this weekend from Minnesota and Washington where she has visited relatives for the past two weeks.

OBITUARIES

John DiTullio

John DiTullio, a former Cranford resident and the nephew of Alphonse DiTullio of 323 Bloomfield Ave. and the late James DiTullio of Cranford, died last Wednesday at his home in Lambertville. He was 65.

The funeral was Saturday from the Dooley Funeral Home, 218 North Ave., W., and a high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Michael's Church by Rev. L. Thomas Duffy, assistant pastor. Interment was in the family plot.

Born in Italy, he came to this country in 1921 and moved from Cranford to Lambertville 20 years ago. He was last employed as a laborer.

Mrs. Nina Horner

Mrs. Nina C. Horner, 75, of 9 English Village, widow of George R. Horner, died Tuesday in Granview Hospital, Celersville, Pa., after a long illness. Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow from the Gray Funeral Home, 318 East Broad St., Westfield, with Rev. Donald Jones of the First Methodist Church of Westfield officiating.

Born in Hackettstown, Mrs. Horner lived in East Orange 10 years and in Westfield 25 years before moving here eight years ago. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Westfield.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth R. Hopkins of Olympia, Wash.; two brothers, Dr. Herbert G. Carter of Pennsylvania, Pa., and Joseph H. Carter of Levittown, Pa.; and one granddaughter, Miss Sara Horner Hopkins of Olympia. Interment will be in Union Cemetery, Hackettstown. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the memorial fund of the First Methodist Church of Westfield or to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Rudolph Slosar

Msgr. Thomas Mulvaney, pastor of St. John the Apostle Church, Clark-Linden, celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem at the church on Saturday for Mrs. Rudolph Slosar, 53, of 12 Algonquin Dr., who died last Wednesday at home after a brief illness.

Mrs. Slosar was born in Germany and moved to New York City 45 years ago. She lived in Cranford 14 years. For 22 years she was a telephone operator with the Bell Telephone Co., retiring seven years ago.

She was a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America and the Sunny Acres Civic Association, and was a communicant of St. John the Apostle Church.

She is survived by her husband, Rudolph W. Slosar; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Silva of Cedar Grove, and Miss Patricia Slosar at home; three brothers, Paul and Joseph Stekel, both of New York City, and Edward Stekel of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Frances Leigh and Mrs. Mary Robson, both of Staten Island; and five grandchildren.

Interment was in Holy Resurrection Cemetery, New Market.

Mrs. Eva K. Sherba

A high mass of requiem was celebrated Monday at St. Vladimir's Church, Elizabeth, by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Fedorek, for Mrs. Eva Krupn Sherba, 79, of 1221 Orange Ave., who died last Thursday in Elizabeth General Hospital after a long illness. She was the widow of Michael Sherba, Sr.

Born in the Ukraine, Mrs. Sherba lived in Cranford four years and in Kenilworth 53 years. She was a communicant of St. Vladimir's Church and a member of the Elizabeth Branch, Ukrainian National Association.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Moleen of Garwood; four sons, Michael, Jr., of North Miami Beach, Fla., John and Frank of Kenilworth, and George of Clark; a sister, Mrs. Paraska Warcila of Minersville, Pa.; 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The funeral was from the Dooley Funeral Home, 218 North Ave., W., and interment was in the family plot.

Martin O. Olson

Martin O. Olson of Elizabeth, father of Mrs. Alice Collins, a retired teacher who taught in Cranford schools for 40 years, died Monday at the Lignora Nursing Home, Elizabeth, at the age of 92.

Rev. Theodore O. Granberg, pastor of the Elmora Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, conducted funeral services yesterday at the August F. Schmidt Memorial Home, Elizabeth, and cremation took place in Roschill Crematory, Linden.

Mr. Olson, an Elizabeth resident for 46 years, was employed by the Westinghouse Co. prior to his retirement several years ago. He was an honorary life member of the Industrial Management Club of Jersey City, the Old Guard of Elizabeth, the YMCA of Eastern Union County and the World Federalists.

In addition to Mrs. Collins, who now lives in Bricktown, he leaves his wife of 67 years Mrs. Charlotte Schield Olson; another daughter, Miss Estrid Olson at home, also a retired teacher; four grandchildren, including James W. Collins of Silver Springs, Md., formerly of Cranford, and nine great-grandchildren.

Max Rems

Max Rems of 49 Lohmoor Dr., S., was killed last Thursday when his car went out of control and plunged into the Saddle Brook River from the Garden State Parkway in Saddle River Township. He was 55. State Police said the accident occurred several hours before the car was noticed.

Mr. Rems, a clothing salesman at the Broad St. Men's Shop in Paramus, was born in New York City. He lived in Teaneck before moving to Cranford three years ago.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Nadia Peters Rems; a son, Robert, and a daughter, Karen, at home; his mother, Mrs. Ida Rems, and three brothers, Dr. J. Paul Rems of Belmont, N. Y., and William and Samuel Rems of Jersey City.

Rabbi Sidney Nathanson of Temple Sheolom, Plainfield, officiated at the funeral, which was held Sunday afternoon at Gray Memorial, 12 Springfield Ave. Interment was in Beth Israel Cemetery, Woodbridge.

Mrs. Jesse Bell

Rev. Frank N. Williams, pastor of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church, will conduct funeral services this afternoon at 1:30 in the church for Mrs. Jesse Bell, 48, of Newark, formerly of Cranford. Mrs. Bell died Monday en route to Newark City Hospital, where she was being taken after suffering an apparent heart attack.

She lived in Cranford, her birthplace, for 47 years before moving to Newark 18 months ago.

Survivors include her husband, Jesse A. Bell; a son, Jesse, Jr., of Elizabeth; her mother, Mrs. Daisy Townsend of Rosette; two brothers, John D. and Charles Townsend of Cranford; a sister, Mrs. Rosalie Pryor of Newark, and two grandchildren.

Interment will be in Roschill Cemetery, Linden.

Louis Brod

Rabbi I. Fishbein of Beth-El Reform Temple, Elizabeth, officiated at funeral services on Sunday at the Jewish Memorial Home, Elizabeth, for Louis Brod, 80, of 9 Redford Ave., who died Friday in Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth, after a short illness.

Born in Russia, Mr. Brod lived in New York City and Detroit before moving to Cranford 30 years ago. He was a retired building contractor.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Rose Brod; a daughter, Mrs. Selman Auerbach of Cranford, and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Anna Purick

KENILWORTH — Funeral services were conducted Friday at the Mastenator Funeral Home, Roselle Park, for Mrs. Anna Purick of 405 Roselle Lane, who died last Wednesday at Palmer Nursing Home, Summit, at the age of 90.

Mrs. Purick was born in Jersey City and lived in Kenilworth two years. She was the widow of James Purick.

Surviving are a niece, Mrs. Doris Lassie of Roselle, and a nephew, Anthony Meyer, Jr. of Baywood. Interment was in Rosedale Memorial Park, Linden.

See Weekend Accident Toll Of 13 Deaths

The New Jersey State Safety Council, in reviewing the state's highway accident statistics, estimates that a traffic accident will occur on New Jersey's roads every three minutes during the 78-hour Labor Day weekend. The estimate went on to state that for the 78-hour period, New Jersey motorists will destroy approximately $4 million dollars as a result of 13 deaths, 425 injuries and 1,707 accidents.

The council in projecting these figures emphasized that we are in an era of steadily increasing auto accidents with their consequent deaths and injuries. As a defense against these accidents, the council offers the following suggestions:

Never "tailgate." This practice of following too closely the vehicle ahead has been found to be a common cause of accidents. Stay back one car length for each 10 miles of speed.

When you have a driver tailgating you, slow down and encourage him to pass.

Expect the driver ahead of you to brake without warning. Watch especially for situations which will cause him to slow down or stop.

Stop smoothly and gradually when there is a vehicle behind you. Signal your intentions of stopping, slowing down or turning.

Look to the left, look to the right when approaching an intersection. Never assume the other driver will yield the right-of-way, even if you have the green light.

When in doubt, never pass. Before you change lanes check your rearview mirror and glance to be sure your blind spot is clear. Use your turn signals when passing. Make certain someone behind you is not trying to pass you at the same time.

When passing, sound horn or flick your lights to let the driver ahead know. Accelerate and pass quickly. Get back quickly after you can clearly see the car in your rearview mirror.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our husband and father, Andrew Bain. The flowers, cards and visits; the contributions to the Heart Fund and to the First Presbyterian Church Memorial Fund were sincerely appreciated.

Red Maples Turn Green

QUESTION: When is a red maple green?

ANSWER: In hot, dry weather. The why of the red-to-green act is something else again, and Rutgers specialists such as Don Lacey have been explaining this all summer.

Like so many garden problems this terrible summer you can lay this one to the heat, too.

It's simply a case of the high temperatures destroying the red pigment in the leaves.

Not so drastically affected were the green pigments. These were in the leaves all the time, but the reds dominated them so that the greens didn't show through.

Look For Bloodgood

According to Lacey, specialist in home horticulture, some red maples resist such onslaughts of hot weather better than others.

One of these is called Bloodgood, and if you're thinking of a red maple in your landscape scheme it may pay you to shop for this one.

And while we're talking about shopping, I'd like to remind you

Cranford Has Battle Strategy Expert

By CAROL BUNICK
United States commanders in Vietnam might be able to use the services of Cranford's Rand Mirante. Rand has become an expert on battle strategy through participation in such skirmishes as the American Revolution, the Civil War and the Battle of Waterloo.

No, he is not 200 years old. He is a young man, about to enter Princeton University, and he lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mirante, at 14 Dartmouth Rd. His battle experience has come from playing war games. A ping-pong table in the basement of his home is his battlefield, and some of his soldiers are only an inch high.

War games are not for children. It takes thorough research and mathematical precision to map complete battles as Rand has done, and not only is it necessary to position hundreds of military miniatures correctly. If one is to recreate a piece of history, he must also include trees, bridges, tunnels, headquarters, even puffs of smoke—in short, everything that was present when the battle took place.

Then a game of wits begins, in which participants make carefully planned moves just as the real commanders did. Other war game enthusiasts have included Sir Winston Churchill, King Louis XIV, Frederick the Great and Napoleon Bonaparte.

War games are not for the poverty-stricken either. A single box of six military miniatures costs $2.95, and they are sold in special stores. Rand has been able to save some money by painting the miniatures himself and by constructing his own background materials.

Napoleon is Rand's current interest. He and his friends recently fought the Battle of Waterloo, which took two days to set up.

Napoleon has fascinated Rand since junior-high school days, and he has acquired several books on the famous French leader. Mrs. Raymond Webb, art director for the Cranford Public Library, was so impressed by Rand's hobby and his Napoleon collection, that she has arranged a display in the library.

The 30 books exhibited, which include some from the library's own shelves, cover many aspects of Napoleon's life—his private life, his military exploits, his political career and his exile.

Some of the books are the following: "The Bonapartes," "Napoleon and Josephine," "Napoleon's Russian Campaign," and "How to Play War Games in Miniature."

One book in particular, "The Military History and Atlas of Napoleonic Wars," has been of help to Rand. It was written for West Point cadets and contains battle blueprints.

After all he has learned about the French commander, what does Rand think of him? "As a man of action Napoleon remains unique," Rand said. He explained that Bonaparte should not be regarded as just a dictator or referred to as a "little Hitler," because he accomplished many worthwhile military feats. These include the rebuilding of Paris and the restoration of France's educational, legal and financial institutions.

Rand's uncle belongs to the Friends of Napoleon Society in Canada, which is devoted to promoting a favorable image of Napoleon. Rand has received some books on Bonaparte from his uncle, and he first became interested in war games when his uncle presented him with H. G. Wells' book, "Little Wars," on the subject.

The books on Napoleon, along with a few of Rand's military miniatures, will be on display in the library for the next two weeks.

Cites Qualification For Representing New 12th District

John S. Bender, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the new 12th District, this week stressed the advantages of selecting that contender for the vacancy best qualified to understand and represent the interests of the district. His opponent in the primary is Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer.

Mr. Bender, an experienced trial lawyer, asserted "Such professional qualification provides the best working knowledge of the exhaustive legal protections of individual rights and privileges, including their relationship to the increasing responsibilities of present-day government, and also furnishes the best capability and experience to most effectively represent and advocate the preservation and betterment of those human values and personal interests. But my opponent is not a lawyer."

A decorated combat infantry officer, Mr. Bender stated: "United States military training in leadership, strategy and tactics best qualifies those who risk their lives in defense of our country to know and understand the spirit and determination so essential to responsive and efficient representation. But my opponent is not a veteran."

Mr. Bender, an economics honor graduate, noted: "Such educational background best ensures the knowledge and understanding of the economic threats to our Nation, and the best methods of preventing uncontrolled inflation, financial instability, and poverty. But my opponent, who opposes high interest rates and tight money to control inflation, obviously does not understand sound monetary policy."

A resident of the new district area for 17 years, Mr. Bender added: "Such direct acquaintance affords the best knowledge of the day-to-day interests of the residents of the new district. But my opponent has never lived in the new district area."

FMBA to Honor Cranford Resident For Fire Rescue

Frank Koehler of 170 Locust Dr. will receive the New Jersey State Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association civilian award for rescuing three children from an apartment above his plumbing office at 236 Hollywood Ave., Hillside last January 6 when it was gutted by fire.

The local resident recalled yesterday that he was in his office about noon when he heard three children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Britton screaming in the hallway above his office. He rushed upstairs and carried one and led two children to safety before fire apparatus arrived. One of the youngsters died later of severe burns. Neither of the parents was home at the time.

The award, along with other 1966 valor awards to firemen and civilians, will be presented at the annual dinner of the NJSEBA on September 12 in Atlantic City.

Miss Bernstein Leaving to Study At London College

Miss Susan Bernstein of 115 Pawnee Rd., a junior at Beaver College, Glenside, Pa., will be among 25 Beaver students sailing next Thursday for London, England. The group, enrolled in Beaver's London semester program, will study at the City of London College for 16 weeks.

Under the direction of Dr. David M. Gray, director of international programs at Beaver, and John W. Hathaway, associate professor of fine arts and field director for the program, the students will attend an eight-day orientation session at Oxford University before beginning classes on September 26 at the City of London College.

They will take five courses covering the areas of history, economics, geography, philosophy, government, literature, art and architecture for a total of 16 credit hours.

The program of study also will include trips through southern England, to Wales, St. Albans, Cambridge, Colchester, Norwich, Cambridge, E.chester, Norwich, In addition, students will attend sessions of the House of Lords, the Magistrate's Courts, Royal Courts of Justice, Old Bailey, and will visit the Stock Exchange, House of Commons, and various government departments. They also will meet leaders of the Conservative, Liberal and Labor parties and other key government officials.

During the stay in London some students will live at Lancaster Hall while others will reside with English families. At Christmas time they will have the opportunity of touring Europe and on January 15 they will return to the United States.

Miss Bernstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bernstein, is a Cranford High School graduate and is majoring in mathematics.

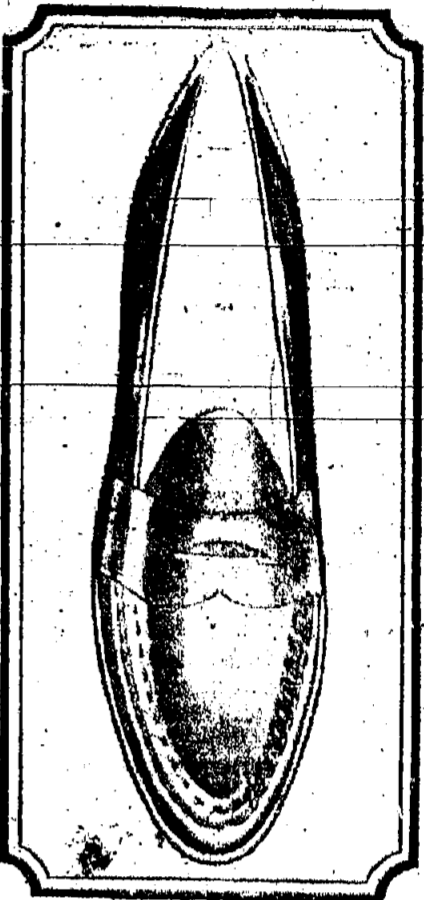

Miss Mazin Partelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Partelow of 48 Morse St. left Friday for Baton Rouge, La. where she will attend Louisiana State University. Miss Partelow, who was awarded a National Science Foundation grant, will work for her master's degree in mathematics. A graduate of Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, W. Va., she has taught in Roselle Franklin Township public school.

Curriculum Advances

(Continued from Page 1) he made of paperbacks in the 19 second grade classes; so that there will be a minimum of five books for every child in every second grade class.

The language coordinator said the program of individualized reading will enable the second grade teachers to carry on the transition from ITA to the traditional ABC's where necessary.

Mrs. Lallis said in-service workshops on individualized reading will be held throughout the school year with Dr. Jennette Yeatch of Jersey City State College as a follow-up to workshops held last spring for all second grade teachers.

All first graders will again make use of ITA to learn to read. In a report to Dr. Clark W. McCormick, superintendent of schools, Frank J. Martz, former director of curriculum and instruction, called ITA "a real step forward in elementary education." He added that "professional observation as well as teacher and parent reaction are all favorable to ITA."

Another major curricular change will be the use of a new contemporary mathematics textbook, "Elementary School Mathematics," published by Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., in all first through sixth grade classes. William G. Koellner, mathematics coordinator, said the new contemporary series was selected as the result of an extensive evaluation of all available contemporary mathematics textbooks, and Every New Jersey school district must employ a full-time nurse for the 1966-67 school year. The New Jersey State Board of Education made this mandatory for September, 1966, at its May meeting.

A four-year baccalaureate degree-granting program in nursing is being initiated at Paterson and Trenton State Colleges this September.

Preliminary applications for state scholarships must be filed by Nov. 15; parents' financial statement by Dec. 15 and high school report by Jan. 15, with the N. J. State Scholarship Commission, 225 West State St., Trenton.

be able to return home sooner, but it was found necessary to perform a skin graft on his shoulder and this slowed up the progress of his recovery.

Although he still has some speech difficulty, Lt. Sieg is reported in good condition otherwise and has been driving his car since he arrived home.

Officials To

Then after a story on the playground appeared in this newspaper, many Cranford residents donated toys, games and other materials, while others donated their services as supervisors. A total of $44 in cash was also donated. Mrs. Collins reports that attendance has increased in recent weeks, ranging from 30 to 40 compared with 15-34, previously. Fifty children turned out for the election last week.

Plans for next year are already being made. One scheduled project, suggested by one of the mothers, is a garden contest. Girls will plant flower gardens, and boys will plant vegetable gardens. The mothers, not to be left out of the action, have formed a "together club" which will handle any community problem that arises. Members include Mrs. James Hearns, Mrs. J. R. Heales, Mrs. W. Wright, Mrs. Joseph Randolph, Mrs. Edyth Smith and Mrs. Arthur Williams. Hopefully, the playground will be supported next year by the Recreation Department, but no definite decision has been made yet by township officials.

Week's Weather

(Continued from Page 1) goes to a minimum of 41 degrees. Precipitation totaled .34 inches, as thundershowers occurred on Aug. 26, 27 and 28. Mostly cloudy and humid weather prevailed during the week.

Economic Education Program for Students

Cranford High School will be among those participating in a series of two-day programs for high school students in 12 North Jersey counties arranged by the Northern New Jersey Chapter of Americans for the Competitive System.

The non-profit organization is active in the field of economic education and seeks to develop a better understanding of the American economic business system.

Its program for high schools includes lectures, a film presentation and tours of manufacturing and business firms.

Last year, the chapter's first in operation, more than 1,000 high school seniors toured plants at 27 locations.

Demonstration Of Lawn Making Scheduled Here

A lawn clinic and demonstration will be held on Tuesday in Nomahegan Park, Eric H. Peterson, Jr., senior county agent, announced this week.

The clinic, which will start at 8 p.m., includes identification and control of weeds, insects and diseases and answers to questions on all phases of lawn care.

At 7 p.m., a step-by-step demonstration on how to make a new lawn will take place, followed by a demonstration of methods to renovate a poor lawn.

The clinic and demonstrations are conducted by the Union County Extension Service in cooperation with the Union County Park Commission.

The demonstration area is on Springfield Ave. opposite Union Junior College.

The program is in charge of the senior county agent, assisted by Stephen Bachelder, agricultural agent, and Dr. Henry W. Indyk, turf management specialist of Rutgers, the State University.

All persons interested in making a new lawn or renovating a poor one or wanting weeds, insects, grasses or diseases identified are invited to attend.

Junior Achiever Advisers to Hear Cranford CPA

Paul Schwartz of 4 Georgia St., Cranford, will discuss accounting practices and procedures and the recently enacted New Jersey sales tax law at the 16th annual day-long Junior Achievement adviser training session.

Mr. Schwartz was graduated from Rutgers University in 1947 with a degree of bachelor of science. He is vice-president of the Union County Chapter, New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants; a member of the committees on federal taxation, public relations and annual meeting of the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, and treasurer of the Board of Education of Temple Beth-El.

He also is a member of the board of directors of the Occupational Center of Union County and a member of Weequahic Lodge 270, F and AM.

William D. Renner of Elizabeth, manager of accident prevention and health services of the Schering Corp., will speak on safety practices and procedures, covering causes of industrial, home and highway accidents.

Remedial Reading Program Offered At High School

Cranford High School will again offer remedial and developmental reading programs for students reading them.

Mrs. Ethel White has been assigned to the high school full-time to handle the reading program. Dr. Charles Post, principal, said this is the first time in several years the program has been available. He pointed out it was not possible to staff the position in recent years.

Dr. Post said Room 210 has been established as the reading room, as part of a wing on the second floor, where all language arts courses are now centered. Adjacent to the reading room are classrooms for English, the English conference room, the library and the new curriculum resource center. Guidance personnel and English teachers from the three secondary schools are now screening candidates for the reading program.

ALMA MATER ON WHEELS — University Extension Division of Rutgers University has gone many places to conduct classes, including this railroad car. The picture, taken in February, 1926, shows the members of the foreman training class in their version of the Little Red Schoolhouse at Elizabethport. It was the first of 19 railroad coach classes conducted by the State University's Extension Division.

Extension Division of Rutgers Offers Wide Variety of Courses

A mere infant in Rutgers' 200-year history, the University Extension Division nevertheless has been a most vigorous and imaginative member of the State University family. Organized in 1925 to provide college level instruction to working men and women in all parts of the state, the Rutgers Extension Division has made use of Christmas vacations for seminar periods and of railroad cars for classrooms. Adaptability has been the division's greatest asset in its continuing efforts to expand and improve its educational services for New Jerseyans unable to enroll full-time in the university.

For example, the aforementioned railroad coach was brought into service in 1926 for a Saturday morning foreman-training class. It was the first of several "on-the-track" classrooms to be used. Classes also have been held in shops, offices and cafeterias.

Usually held at night or on Saturdays to avoid conflicts with working hours, classes occasionally have had even more unusual scheduling such as the 1928 real estate seminar held December 26-30 to take advantage of the business lull between Christmas and New Year's Day.

That Extension Division education was popular was emphatically proved in New Brunswick in 1927 when a course in business psychology and salesmanship, enrolled 700. A record size for an extension class, it was eclipsed several months later when a similar course offered by Rutgers in Newark attracted 800 students.

Today, the University Extension Division serves some 20,000 persons in a wide range of fields, including industrial training, public safety, continuing legal education, social work, management, govern-

Some Thoughts for Labor Day Weekend

Although the heat and humidity are still with us, the upcoming long weekend marks the termination of the summer season. For most of us, this is the time for one more fling before getting back into harness and settling back into the routines of our workaday lives — a time for the final outing of swimming, picnicking, boating, or just plain loafing.

For many, the real meaning of Labor Day may be lost in the frantic pursuit of fun on this final long holiday of the season. Never before have so many people been able to enjoy the leisure, the luxuries and the comforts we see all about us in these United States. The rights of labor have never been so certain — nor its obligation to act in a responsible manner more necessary.

As we enjoy our many blessings, we should not forget the things that have made them possible — the time-honored virtues of thrift, hard work, competence and pride in a job well done. These are the things that Labor Day commemorates, and if our nation is to survive in its greatness, they will be needed more than ever before in the years to come. They are needed now to back up our men in Vietnam, and in the future to insure continuation of our advancements in space, science, industry and technology.

Keeping such things in mind will give more meaning to your Labor Day holiday as you relax at the beach or mountains or picnic in your own backyard this weekend.

Additional Labor Day Thoughts in a Selfish Vein

And if you are going to be away from home this Labor Day, the Motor Club of America suggests some additional thoughts to keep in mind in connection with its theme for the long weekend: "Get Back to Work Safely!"

This theme is designed to point up the fact that the motorist should consider himself and his family selfishly on the trip home.

The idea of making the motorist aware of the fact that he may not get to work on Tuesday, the day after Labor Day, will open his eyes to the very selfish fact that he must protect his and his family's own interests," says Fred Rosenberg, MCA's safety director.

The Motor Club's safety department presents the following list of suggestions which it feels will alert the driver to his responsibility and will, if followed, cause him to drive selfishly yet considerately, to protect his own safety while respecting the rights and privileges of others:

Make sure your car is in top notch condition. Check tires, battery, cooling system, brakes, lights and engine.

Don't lash the baby carriage — or anything else — to the back of the car.

Don't remain in the other driver's blind spot, that is, to his immediate right or left rear. When you pass, move quickly through this blind spot — always give the other fellow a chance to see you.

Don't tailgate. Make sure there is enough room between the car in front of you and your own. One car length for each 10 miles per hour is a good guide, but this should be increased depending upon conditions.

Turn on headlights in rainy or foggy weather, at dusk and whenever else visibility is reduced.

Use your turn signals well in advance of turning or changing lanes.

Drive at a relatively constant speed so that the driver behind you can adjust accordingly. Don't change speeds often and radically, but it is a good idea to adjust occasionally on long trips to avoid what is known as "highway hypnosis."

Comply with all traffic rules and regulations, and drive defensively.

Nature Notes

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

Many people have the notion, no doubt reinforced by New Yorker Magazine cartoons, that bird watchers are tweed jacketed professors or elderly maiden ladies. Nothing could be farther from the truth if the bird you are watching is the whooping crane. The history of the search for the whoopers' nesting ground is the subject of a new book, "The Hunt for the Whooping Crane" by J. J. McCoy (Lothrop, Lee and Shepard Co., Inc., New York, $4.95).

With all the suspense of a whodunit, Mr. McCoy begins his tale in 1944 when only one whooping crane was sighted over Nebraska during migration. Shortly afterward, American Ornithologists' Union called upon the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Audubon Society to take immediate steps to determine "the exact status of this species throughout its range and institute practical methods to forestall its extinction."

In 1945, the two organizations announced the creation of the Whooping Crane Project. Very little was really known about these big birds. They are extremely skittish and it is difficult to get within about a half-mile of them. Winters were spent along the Gulf Coast and they were seen during migration on their route north but no one knew where they nested; or, indeed, anything about their domestic life.

Since the big cranes were part-time residents of Canada, the Canadian Wildlife Service became a third party to the project. Their personnel were familiar with the tremendous physical hardship that must be borne by the men who undertook the search. There were thousands of square miles that had to be covered, much of it accessible only by canoe or on foot.

The first step in the project was to assemble all the known information on the whoopers. A comprehensive publicity campaign was initiated designed to reach anyone who might have seen the big birds on the Canadian side of the border. Reports came in from hunters, trappers, prospectors and government employes in the area as well as from those who lived on the land. The majority of reports indicated that the whoopers entered Saskatchewan from North Dakota and then disappeared.

Based on these reports and

My neighbor tells me his company has hired a new man who calls himself a management and personnel coordinator. This fellow says he is to act as liaison for the top echelon in order that there may be proper employee indoctrination and evaluation. Whenever they use that kind of double-talk, you know it's going to cost the firm plenty. Clap like that never works for less than $20,000 a year, when he does work. I understand this new management and personnel coordinator in one week has antagonized all but three employes, and they are on their vacations. That's a coordinator?

Cranford was to join with other communities in the area studying the problem of noise and hazards caused by low-flying planes out of Newark Airport. It was indicated by Township Committee, Mayor George Osterheld represented the township at a meeting of municipal officers in the Court House, Elizabeth, at which it was agreed to recommend the establishment of another airport away from the industrial and suburban area of Newark for use of "heavy" planes. This was understood to mean freight planes and four-motor passenger transports.

International Exposition Tickets at Savings & Loan

Cranford Savings and Loan Association, 2 North Union Ave., has been designated "Official Expo 67 Information Center and Passport Sales Agency" for the Universal and International Exposition to be held next year in Montreal, Canada. Admission tickets, called "passports," are now on sale at prices substantially lower than the gate price when the exposition opens.

Expo 67 will be the first Universal and International Exposition since Brussels in 1958 and the first in North America. More than 70 nations will participate with exhibits and pavilions. The six-month spectacle will highlight Canada's centennial year and the 325th anniversary of host city, Montreal.

Holdings of admission "passports" will have free access to all pavilions and will be able to ride free throughout Expo 67's 1,000 acres of the Expo Express, a rapid transit system designed to carry 30,000 persons an hour.

Three types of "passports" are available — single day, which now sell for $1.99; seven-day, good for admission for any seven consecutive days and now on sale for $7; and season "passports" which currently retail for $21.50 and are good for the entire 183 days of the exposition. Prices at the gate will be $2.50, $12 and $35, respectively. Children 12 and under will be admitted at 50 percent off in all categories. The bargain prices are available until February 28.

There will be a limited enrollment. Applications and the registration fee will be due at the first meeting of the course, September 19.

The course will be patterned after the one which was given two years ago by the club, and will include demonstrations and talks by various individuals and agencies on baby care and other pertinent information for the baby sitter.

Boat Safety Course Slated

Ervin F. Heger of 2 Park Dr., a member of the Watchung Power Squadron, reported this week that the area unit of the United States Power Squadrons will again conduct a free course in small boat handling, piloting, seamanship, marine compass and safety-at-sea.

This fall's course will be given at the new David Brearley Regional High School, 883 Monroe Ave., Kenilworth, with registration for classes to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, September 12. The 10 weekly sessions at this location are open to both men and women, and ownership of a boat is not necessary.

"We expect this year's class to have a very large attendance as a result of the increased interest in boating education," Mr. Heger said. "We have a lot of husbands and wife teams taking this course. The public's interest is so great that we have no trouble encouraging our members to give their time to teaching subjects in which they are experts. All of the instructors are local boatmen who are members of the Watchung Power Squadron and who serve without pay."

Further information may be had by contacting the squadron's educational officer, Charles G. Ellis of 344 Stockton Rd., Union, or the chairman of the local board for piloting, F. Raymond Obenchain of 902 Highland Ave., Westfield.

New School Construction Complete Course In Water Safety

A suggestion of David C. Lowe of 17 Sylvester St. that the Cranford school system use "new methods of construction that are available" has been referred by Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent of schools, to the school system's architect, Eppel & Scanlan.

Dr. McDermith said the architect will be asked to review the suggestion and make recommendations to the Board of Education.

Mr. Lowe said his only interest in bringing the matter to the school board's attention was to help Cranford get acceptable school buildings at lower cost.

Report on Teachers Absences Due to Illness

Half of Cranford's public school teachers were not absent even once because of illness during the 1965-66 school year, Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent of schools, reported to the Board of Education.

Dr. McDermith said 38 teachers were absent because of illness for 10 or more days. The number of days absent for illness, ranged from one to 67, Dr. McDermith reported.

A SALUTE to the thousands of men and women who make up the work force of Union County

Next Monday, thousands of people in Union County will take a well-deserved holiday from their usual tasks. The men and women of Union County Trust Company will be among those who celebrate this Labor Day in some form of recreation or relaxation.

It is a holiday which has deep significance in our democratic way of life. In recent years, it has come to recognize not only those who labor with their hands, but all those who contribute to our economy by their employment. The knowledge, skills and productive effort represented by this work force forms the very foundation of our system of free enterprise.

As a bank built on more than a century of service to the working men and women of this area, Union County Trust Company adds its salute to this Labor Day.

At Union County Trust Company, service is more than just a promise...

UJC Institute Offers Course On 'Legal Aspects of Nursing'

The "Legal Aspects of Nursing," a 10-week, non-credit course, will be offered by the Union Junior College Institute, beginning on September 20, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, director.

Former Deputy Attorney General Norman D. Weisburd of Westfield will be the instructor. Mr. Weisburd was until recently counsel to the state commissioner of health, the New Jersey Radiation Protection Commission and the Joint Legislative Committee investigating motor vehicle air pollution controls.

Dr. Iversen said the course is designed to inform nurses of their responsibilities and rights in view of the increasing number of malpractice suits against all medical practitioners.

The survey course, which will be limited to graduate nurses, will cover the Nurses Practice Act, contracts in general as they affect nurses in their working day, criminal laws applicable to nursing, including state and federal narcotics laws, laws of abortion, and assault and battery, wills, including the role of the nurse as a witness, dying declarations and gifts, and the legal relationship between the nurse and other medical professions and technicians.

The course also will cover employment relationships, and negligence and malpractice, including standards of care required.

"Legal Aspects of Nursing" will be offered on Tuesday evenings at Union Junior College from 7:30 to 9 on the following dates: September 20 and 27, October 4, 11, 18 and 25, and November 1, 15, 22 and 29. Certificates will be awarded to students successfully completing the course.

Garden Center, Clinic Scheduled By Trailside Club

The Trailside Garden Club of Union County will sponsor a garden center and clinic at Trailside Nature and Science Center in the Watchung Reservation on September 10 and 11 from 1 to 5 p.m. The theme will be "How to—When to—"

Mrs. Clanton McLoughlin of Cranford is chairman of the show, and Mrs. Wesley Philo of Cranford is chairman of the junior bird exhibit.

Ten Union County garden clubs will participate. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge. A plant sale will be held both days.

There also will be lectures by authorities in a variety of horticultural fields.

Horticultural Course For Average Gardener

A brochure, application form and other information may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Robert Leary, nursing coordinator, Union Junior College, Cranford, N. J.

Mr. Weisburd is a graduate of the University of Georgia, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in journalism. He obtained his law degree from the Seton Hall University Schools of Law and is a member of the Bar of the State of New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

A native of Newark, Mr. Weisburd is a graduate of Irvington High School. During the Korean Conflict, he served with the U. S. Army Paratroopers, and was assigned as a criminal investigator to the Office of the Provost Marshal General after the war. While attending Seton Hall during the evening, he was employed as an Essex County probation officer.

Mrs. R. H. Walcott of 12 Berkeley Pl., Area 4 chairman for the Garden Club of New Jersey, reported that experts from Rutgers, Drew University and the New York Botanical Garden will talk on such varied topics as how plants grow, New Jersey soils, flowers from seed, and identification and control of common garden pests and plant diseases.

Further information may be had from Mrs. Walcott or the registrar.

District Attorneys Reelect Glick As Director

Leslie P. Glick of 12 Wadsworth Ter., assistant prosecutor of Union County, was reelected for his sixth consecutive term as a member of the board of directors of the National District Attorneys' Association at the recent annual meeting at the Denver-Hilton Hotel, Denver, Colo. Over 400 prosecutors and their families attended the sessions.

Mr. Glick and his family, residents of Cranford for the past 10 years, returned Friday. While in Denver they met Associate Supreme Court Justice Byron R. Rose Memorial Hospital there. The White, Justice White, a native of Colorado and a Rhodes Scholar, was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1962 by the late President John F. Kennedy. Justice White discussed the strategic position of the administration in the administration of criminal law in an address before the association.

While at the hotel the Glicks had a reunion with Union County Judge and Mrs. John A. Ard of Elizabeth. Judge Ard has been studying the summer at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Kenneth, 14-year-old son of the Glicks, who enters the ninth grade at Orange Avenue Junior High School next week, had an acute appendicitis attack while in Denver and was operated on at the General Rose Memorial Hospital there. The Glicks were highly in praise of the efficiency and kindness of the hospital staff and the doctors who attended their son. Kenneth's surgery cancelled their plans to tour the West and they took just one brief side trip to the spacious, well-equipped Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs before returning home.

Mrs. Glick reported they were very glad to be safely home in Cranford once more.

21 Spend Week Working On Project in Appalachia

Sixteen young people and five adult advisers from the First Presbyterian Church spent 21st week working on community projects in northern Appalachia. At the Canyon Presbyterian Church near Morgantown, West Va., they worked on a sandbox and basketball court for the playground, three new doors for the sanctuary and did various other odd jobs.

Recreational activities included swimming at a pool and in nearby Cheat Lake, baseball and volleyball games with local participants, visits to coal mines and a trip into Morgantown to see Thorton Wilder's play, "Skin of Our Teeth," presented by local players.

The purpose of the work camp, the second sponsored by the Cranford church, was to build morale, according to Rev. James Mohrman, pastor of the Canyon church and director of the Presbyterian Parish and Neighborhood Service. Things got done fast because the enthusiasm of the work campers spread to the local teenagers and adults, he said.

Advisers for the program were the Rev. and Mrs. R. Bruce Harde, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Younghouse and Miss Donna Kerzman.

Youth participants ranging in age from 14 to 17, were Jeffrey Anderson, Martha Chase, Keith Decker, Marc Emerson, Tyler Hill, Barbara Hughes, Kathleen Hume, Carol Miller, Peggy Minneman, Carl Schriener, Kathy Skidmore, Richard Wagner and Carol Lawrence, Paul and Richard Younghouse. Most belong to the First Presbyterian Church's Senior High Fellowship.

Holdup Case Suspect Indicted

Grand Jury indictments were returned in Elizabeth last week charging Andrew Dawson, 26, of Bayonne, with robbing six Union County Gas stations, including one in Cranford, of a total of $548.15. He is alleged to have been armed with a knife in five of the holdups.

He is accused of staging the robberies between June 19 and 27 at Lane's Atlantic Service Station, 413 North Ave., E.; Darrell's Gulf Service Station, Clark; a Shell station at the Bayway Circle and George's Atlantic Station, both in Elizabeth, and at the Linden Esso Service Center and the Northbound Refinery Station, both in Linden.
Dawson was arrested in a white Mustang on June 29 after a chase by Linden police, who suspected him of being the "White Mustang Bandit" who had held up 12 service stations in two counties.
According to Police Chief Lester W. Powell, when Robert Lane, proprietor of the local gas station involved, was taken to Linden police headquarters, he identified Dawson as the man who threatened him with a knife and took $96 from School Councils, New Jersey Association of Secondary School Administrators and the State Department of Education.

Over 350 high school and junior high school student council leaders from 200 New Jersey secondary schools attended the two three-day sessions, with 35 adults and 34 junior counselors on the staff.

The purposes of the conference are: To focus attention on student council philosophy, to help leaders acquire principles of good leadership, to promote interest and enthusiasm for student council work, to provide training in the skills of democratic group leadership and to seek to bring about improvement of student councils in the schools represented at the conference.

Classes were conducted in aims and standards, group leadership, organization, projects, resource center, evaluation, problem clinics, parliamentary procedures, roles of presidents and secretaries and group planning.

Your Garden
plans Dr. Indyk, and so suffocate the grass roots.

Shallow Roots
Also harmful, he says, is the daily, light type of watering. Such sprinkling only makes the grass roots stay at the surface looking for their daily drink, instead of pushing downward for water. Shallow-rooted grass naturally doesn't last in a dry spell.

What's more, sprinkling just encourages crabgrass and other such weeds to grow tough and ornery.
Your lawn needs water only in an extended dry period, according to Indyk. When the grass wilts or begins to turn blue-green it's time to turn on the water.

But apply your water slowly and plentifully so that you soak the ground six inches deep. This should last your lawn about a week if it doesn't rain.

Rare Old Chinese Elm Tree Discovered on UJC Campus

The curiosity of Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean, has led to the discovery of a late bloomer on the Union Junior College campus.

The late bloomer in this case, however, is not a student, but a half-century-old Chinese elm tree. According to Prof. John J. Siburn of Westfield, chairman of the biology department, the Chinese elm tree is the only elm tree which blooms in the fall in this region, and is fairly rare in this area. A late bloomer in educational jargon is a student who doesn't do well scholastically in high school, but does much better work academically in college. It often refers to a student who matures later than most students his own age, Dr. Iversen explained.

While on a tour of the campus, Dr. Iversen found the Chinese elm tree (Ulmus parvifolia) on property purchased along Springfield Ave. about a year ago. Prof. Siburn said his first impression was that the tree had all the markings of a willow, but on closer examination he discovered it is a Chinese elm tree.

Helping Prof. Siburn in the identification was David Hoff of Westfield, a senior at Idaho State University, Pocatello, Idaho, who was a summer session student at Union Junior College. Mr. Hoff was a forestry major and previously worked for the Union County Park Commission.

Prof. Siburn said the Chinese elm tree is often confused with the Siberian elm (Ulmus pumila), which said the Chinese elm has smaller is quite prevalent in this area. He leaves and blooms in the fall rather than the spring.

Chinese elm trees normally are found in China and Japan, and are not natural to this area, Prof. Siburn reported. The more popular Siberian elm is native to Siberia.

Robert Koller of the Union County Park Commission, an alumnus of Union Junior College, said he believes there are several Chinese elm trees in the park system and several in Summit. He said they certainly are not a common tree in this area.

Memorial Hospital Cases

Three accident cases from Cranford were treated in the emergency room of Memorial General Hospital, Union, during the week ending last Friday. The Cranford emergencies were among 130 cases treated at the hospital's emergency facility last week. This included 15 persons injured in highway accidents, 16 persons involved in industrial accidents, 43 individuals hurt in home mishaps and 56 persons injured in miscellaneous accidents.

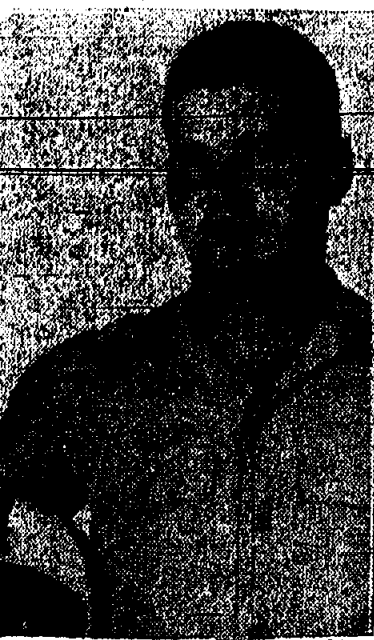

LATE BLOOMER — Prof. John J. Siburn of Westfield, chairman of the biology department, right, and David Hoff of Westfield, a summer session student, examine a Chinese elm tree on the Union Junior College campus in Cranford. Chinese elm trees are comparatively rare for this area, according to Prof. Siburn. He said they are often mistaken for the much more prevalent Siberian elm tree.

District Governor To Visit Rotary

District Governor Charles R. Meyers, past president of the Hillside Rotary Club, will pay his official visit to the Cranford Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting today at Union Junior College.

Mr. Meyers, president of the New Jersey Wholesale Drug Co., will meet with President Horace K. Corbin, Jr., and officers and committee chairmen at a club assembly prior to the luncheon meeting.

There are now more than 12,400 Rotary clubs in 133 countries with a total membership of 600,000 men.

AFROTC SELECTEE — John A. Butter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Butter of 200 Hillside Ave., is among highly qualified college students selected to participate in the new two-year Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps program.

Cadet Butter is currently undergoing six weeks' initial training at Gunter AFB, Ala., as a prerequisite to entering the AFROTC program at Fordham University, Bronx, N. Y. Students receive familiarization instruction in flying and support operations of the base in addition to specialized training and physical conditioning during the summer encampment. The new program enables cadets to become eligible for commissions as Air Force second lieutenants in two instead of the previously required four years of campus AFROTC training and upon graduation from college. The cadet is a graduate of Seton Hall Preparatory School, South Orange.

Lt. Richard D. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo R. Carlson of 6 Wood Pl., recently completed an eight-week signal officer basic course at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga. During the course, Lt. Carlson received instruction in the duties and responsibilities of a signal officer, and was trained in communication procedures, use and maintenance of signal equipment, and administration. The lieutenant entered on active duty in June of this year. He received his commission through the Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., where he received his B.S. degree in 1965. He was graduated from Cranford High School in 1961.

You give little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of yourself that you truly give. — Khalil Gibran

X-Rays for All School Employees

All employees of the Cranford public school system are scheduled to take X-ray examinations on Tuesday afternoon in the music room of Cranford High School.

The schedule calls for elementary school teachers, nurses and special service personnel to be examined between 1 and 2:30 p.m., junior and senior high school teachers between 2:30 and 4 p.m., and administrators, custodians, secretaries and teacher aides between 4 and 4:30 p.m.

Gary Becher Winner In Events at Camp

In tournaments conducted at Cranford Boys' Camp on Silver Lake near Hope during the seventh week of the camp season, Gary Becher was the winner in the pee wee division in tetherball and horseshoes, not Gard Ward as was mistakenly reported in last week's paper.

Gary Becher also finished first in the pee wee division in badminton, ping pong, basketball, foul shooting and the craft contest.

Alerted by Neighbor, Police Arrest Suspect

Responding to a telephone call from a neighbor who reported that three men appeared to be attempting to enter Skip's Delicatessen, 300 Centennial Ave., at 12:07 a.m. last Thursday, police took into custody Robert W. Hoydal, 10, of Ellingville, Staten Island, N. Y., who was observed walking away from a car parked nearby with the motor running.

Police Chief Lester W. Powell said investigation revealed that the car had been reported stolen in Orange Avenue Junior High Staten Island. Hoydal was booked on a charge of failing to give a good account of himself and sent to the county jail.

Investigation of the case by Lt. Ralph J. Koury and Patrolman Lawrence T. Thomas and Joseph J. Kovacs revealed no signs of attempted entry at the delicatessen, and no other suspects were found in the area. Detectives Michael F. Fedraff and Thomas R. Benton were assigned to investigate further.

School Board Awards Contracts for Supplies

Contracts totaling $11,487 were awarded by the Board of Education last week to 21 firms — all low bidders — for general custodial supplies, custodial electrical supplies, custodial paper supplies, physical education supplies and custodial uniforms.

The total for the custodial supplies was $8,273. For physical education supplies $2,047 and for custodial uniforms $1,168. G. Frank Zimmerman, director of business and plant operations, said the contracts were awarded on the basis of low bids on each of the items.

St. Anne's School Opening Next Wednesday; Expect 500

GARWOOD — An enrollment of approximately 500 students is expected as the 1966-67 school year begins at St. Anne's Parochial School next Wednesday, it was reported this week by Sister Mary Chrysanthine, principal.

On the opening day the start of classes will be preceded by attendance by the students in a body at a Mass of the Holy Ghost in the Church of St. Anne. Classes thereafter will begin at 8:35 a.m. each day.

The school, which is staffed by the Bernardine Sisters, has a faculty of 14, including nine sisters and five lay teachers. There are 14 classrooms for students from kindergarten through eighth grade.

During the coming school year there will be no classes on October 12, Columbus Day; November 1, All Saints' Day; November 11, Veterans' Day; December 8, Feast of the Immaculate Conception; February 13, official celebration of Lincoln's Birthday; February 22, Washington's Birthday; May 4, Feast of the Ascension, and May 30, Memorial Day.

Thanksgiving vacation will begin at noon on November 23 and classes will resume on November 29. The Christmas vacation will start at noon on December 22 and schools will reopen on January 3. Easter vacation will start at noon on March 22 and classes will resume on April 3.

Feted at Picnic On Completion Of Postulant Year

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Augustine of 3 Fifth Ave. held a family picnic Sunday at St. Elizabeth College, Convent, for their daughter, Sister Margaret Augustine, who just successfully completed one year as a postulant and now will begin her year as a novice.

Sister Margaret received her habit of the Sisters of Charity at a religious ceremony on August 14. She is a graduate of St. Anne's School, Garwood, and St. Mary's High School, Elizabeth.

There were 32 guests at the picnic from Cranford, Garwood, Rahway, Elizabeth, Linden and Glen Gardner.

No Garbage Monday

GARWOOD — Councilman John E. Gallagher, chairman of streets and roads, announced this week that there will be no garbage collections in the borough on Monday because of the Labor Day holiday. All collections usually made on Monday will be made on Tuesday next week.

Rotary Views Accident Film

GARWOOD — A film entitled "Anatomy of an Accident" was presented at the Garwood Rotary Club meeting at the Cranwood on Monday.

Prepared by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., the film depicted the many hardships and problems created for the families of people killed or injured in automobile accidents. It also stressed the three "C's" required for safety in driving — Concentration, Control and Courtesy.

It was reported that the local club has entered a team in the District 761 Bowling League, which will begin action next Tuesday at Echo Lanes in Mountainside. Norman Blaney was appointed team captain by the club president, Dr. Justin Brenner.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were from the Kenilworth, Cranford, Westfield and Clark clubs.

The next meeting will be held in the Cranwood at 12:15 p.m. on Monday, September 12.

Voter Registration Setup Explained By Chairman

GARWOOD — At a meeting in the home of Democratic Municipal Chairman George Casabona of 326 Hazel Ave. Tuesday evening, Mrs. Josephine Pol and Michael Glodice, pro-campaign managers for the reelection of Mayor Edward S. Trippa and Councilmen James J. Laden, Jr., and John E. Gallagher, announced the appointment of Councilman Gallagher as 1966 voter registration chairman.

Councilman Gallagher is serving his second year as registration chairman. Upon accepting the appointment, he said:

"With the change in the primary election date to September 13, there appears to be some confusion on the registration of new voters and others who have moved. I would like to point out that registration to vote in the General Election until September 29. Anyone who has registered after August 4 will not be eligible to vote in the Primary Election on September 13."

Patuto, Bury Report Good

KENILWORTH — Democratic Councilman Peter S. Patuto and Michael C. Bury reported this week that their door-to-door campaign for renomination to Borough Council is being "well received" by Kenilworth residents. They observed that voters "are showing more genuine interest, enthusiasm and favorable response for their appeal for support than ever before."

Ladies' Aid, Senior Citizens Plan Trip to Shore

GARWOOD — The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's United Church of Christ and the Garwood Senior Citizens' Club are planning a bus trip to Asbury Park next Wednesday. The group will leave from the church at 10 a.m. and the return trip will begin at 6 p.m.

"Little Things" is the sermon topic selected by the pastor, Rev. Stephen Szabo, for the 10 a.m. summer service at the church this Sunday. There will be a solo by Mrs. Donald Boos.

The regular schedule will resume at the church on Sunday, September 11, with Sunday School at 9:30 and worship service at 11 a.m.

Outdoor Dance Tomorrow Night

GARWOOD — An outdoor dance sponsored by the Garwood Recreation Commission will be held at Washington School from 8 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow with music supplied by the Monarchs, a local rock 'n' roll group.

Recreation Supervisor Bernard Massari reported that the summer playground program sponsored by the commission at Lincoln School and Garwood Memorial Park was a great success, with an average attendance of 175 children each day. The playgrounds closed for the season on Friday.

Mr. Massari announced that plans are now being completed for the fall and winter recreation program, which will get underway on October 3 at Lincoln School.

READY FOR THE RUSH — The new David Brearley Regional High School on Monroe Ave. stands ready for its first fall rush of high school students.

First Regular High School Class Starts Sept. 7 at David Brearley

KENILWORTH — David Brearley Regional High School opens its doors to its first regular high school class on Wednesday when the freshman class reports for orientation at 8:20 a.m.

The curricula, comparable to those offered in the other high schools in the Union County Regional School District, include a college preparatory program in science or liberal arts, a business program covering secretarial, clerical and sales preparation, and industrial and practical arts curricula.

The extra-curricular program will include the "areas of academics, avocations, social and sports activities very much dependent upon student interest, and will develop as the school community grows to maturity," Mr. Dixey said.

Mr. Dixey, the former principal of Riverside High School, Riverside, began his duties on July 1 during the summer school session. The assistant principal is George Cuzzolino of Westfield, a former social studies teacher at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark. Forty instructors make up the teaching staff.

Expand Library, Recreation Programs, Says Boright, Jr.

KENILWORTH — Walter E. Boright, Jr., Democratic candidate for councilman, proposed this week that the borough expand its library facilities and recreation program.

He pointed out that in the 30 years since the library was built, the population had increased from less than 2,500 to nearly 10,000 and yet "our present library stands virtually as it did, three decades ago with the exception that a portion of the basement has been renovated and pressed into service as a study and reference room."

"Due to lack of sufficient library space and facilities," he continued, "our children are forced to travel to neighboring and distant communities to obtain information which is demanded by the vastly increased academic standards and pressures of today's world. The school libraries are only supplements to a good public library and should not be accepted as substitutes."

The candidate asserted that the expansion program would not result in any additional cost to the taxpayer because there were surplus funds available.

On the subject of the recreation program, he said that the Recreation Center has been "in dire need of new ideas" and charged his opponents, Councilmen Peter S. Patuto and Michael C. Bury, with a lack of "creativity and imagination in helping the youth of Kenilworth."

"A community theatre group could be established at the Recreation Center which would enable virtually every age group some type of related activity," Mr. Boright suggested. "People interested (Continued on Page 3)

St. Theresa's School Opens Wednesday

KENILWORTH — St. Theresa's Parochial School will open on Wednesday with an enrollment of 666, it was announced by the new principal, Sister Elizabeth Marie.

The teaching staff consists of 7 sisters and 17 lay teachers, including two new lay teachers, Miss Carolyn Tamforde, who will teach third grade, and Mrs. Lucia DiVito, who will teach fourth grade.

The school calendar will follow a schedule prepared by the Newark Archdiocesan Superintendent of Schools, the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Tuttle, for schools in the Newark Archdiocese.

There will be no classes on October 12, Columbus Day; November 1, All Saints' Day; November 11, Veterans' Day; December 8, Feast of the Immaculate Conception; February 13, Lincoln's official birthday; February 22, Washington's birthday; May 4, Feast of the Ascension, and May 30, Memorial Day.

Thanksgiving vacation will begin at noon on November 23, and schools will reopen November 29. The Christmas vacation will start at noon on December 22 and end on January 3. Easter vacation will start at noon on March 22 and end on April 3.

Eight Join Harding Staff

KENILWORTH — Six new teachers, a psychologist and a librarian will join the Harding School staff when classes resume on Wednesday. The total number of teachers and administrators is 49.

The new teachers and their assignments are as follows: Miss Judith Merlo, who holds a B.S. degree from Seton Hall University, will teach second grade. Miss Carroll Mellor, a graduate of Newark State College with a B.A. degree, will teach fourth grade.

Mrs. Carol Graddock, a graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University with a B.S. degree, will teach fifth grade.

Miss Susan Cray, who holds a B.A. degree from Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa., will teach eighth grade English.

Peter DiBello, holder of a B.A. degree from Montclair State College, will teach industrial arts.

Mrs. Mary Bauer, who holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Rutgers University, will teach remedial reading.

The new psychologist is Mrs. Beverly Dvorin, who received a master's degree from Rutgers University. She succeeds Mrs. Sabina Murray.

Mrs. Barbara Lougher, a graduate (Continued on Page 2)
